About the Alice Merrill Horne Art Collection:

The State of Utah Alice Merrill Horne Art Collection (Utah's state-owned art collection) began in 1899. Alice Merrill Horne was a candidate for the state legislature on a platform of support for the arts. Once she was elected to the House of Representatives, she sponsored a bill to create a state arts organization and to establish a state collection of artwork. The Art Bill passed unanimously in the Senate and the House. As recalled by Alice Merrill Horne, Governor Wells stated: "This Art Bill makes Utah the first state in the Union to provide a state institution for the encouragement of fine arts and is the direct result of Women's suffrage! I congratulate you, Mrs. Horne!".

The ongoing acquisition of artwork by Utah artists comes from purchases selected by the Art Acquisition Committee and generous donations from patrons and artists. The collection continues to grow annually and provides impressive documentation of the history of Utah art. The collection is on display at the Governor's Mansion, the Glendinning Home, the State Capitol building, the Scott Matheson Courthouse, the Chase Home Museum, and many other state buildings.
